THE PLAYFUL ART OF SIP TSHUN NG

June – October, 2016

Celebrated mixed media artist Sip Tshun Ng presents his newest collection of colorful, sculptural works, bringing a whimsical, often ironic twist to every piece he creates. Turning writing instruments into colorful creations that draw the viewer in, Tshun's playful approach leaves patrons wondering "how did he do that?" ArtServe, an award-winning nonprofit arts incubator, provides a platform for local artists to showcase their talent. All work on display is available for purchase and sales support local artists and the cultural community.

"My sculptures reflect the simple pleasures that life affords us, even amid the hustle and bustle of our daily routines. Enjoy your journey!" – Sip Tshun Ng

THE PLAYFUL ART OF SIP TSHUN NG

"I draw inspiration from the present as well as the past. The one constant is time. It's precious and we must live in each moment."

– Sip Tshun Ng

ABOUT SIP TSHUN NG

Raised in Indonesia but of Chinese descent, Sip Tshun Ng loved art from an early age. From painting he evolved to doing cartoon illustrations. Impressed by his use of color and concept Tshun's brother, a clothing manufacturer, began using Tshun's designs in his clothing line. As the line took off, Tshun started to get requests for his original paintings, as well. He started selling to stores that would purchase a dozen works at a time and was thrilled when companies sold out and came back for more. He soon realized that art would become the great passion of his life.

In 1998 unrest and aggression towards the Chinese in Indonesia drove Tshun to escape Indonesia for the United States. After traveling around the U.S. for seven years, Tshun settled in South Florida where he continues to work on his art. Recognized for his talent and unique style, Tshun's work is widely exhibited throughout the area. He has received numerous awards, and boldly approaches each day in living color, sharing his bright palette with us all.

The Endless Colors exhibit features original art work by a local artist, and it is all available for sale through ArtServe.
